Dear Neighbor:

Over the past four years, Westinghouse has pursued much change and improvement at the Feed Materials Production Center. One of our primary objectives has been to maintain open communications with the local community.

We have worked to improve communications with you in a number of ways. A newsletter for our neighbors, FMPC Update, has been established. We've had an open house for the community. Plant tours, public meetings, and presentations to local organizations have increased dramatically. We have responded to countless questions and requests for information from news media.

In a continuing effort to improve our communications with you, we plan to begin "community roundtables" this spring. These will be informal meetings with small groups of neighbors to listen to you, answer your questions and provide detailed information about the FMPC and what we are doing here.

Because we want these roundtable discussions to meet your needs, we hope you will help us plan them and tell us how you want them conducted.

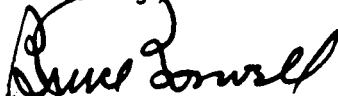

Attached is a survey form containing ten questions. Will you please complete the survey form and return it to me by March 5, 1990. We'll tabulate the responses, and make every effort to plan the roundtables based on what you tell us.

We will discuss topics you suggest and we will answer your questions. There will be no large audience and no long technical presentations at these roundtables.

Those of you who express an interest in talking to us in this forum will be contacted and invited to participate in discussions of interest to you.

Please complete the form today and help us continue to improve our communications with you.

Sincerely,

Bruce Boswell
President
